

Testimonials

"Baker & Partners was delighted to offer two placements to students from the Institute of Law. During their time, they became involved in a wide variety of the work undertaken by the firm and received universally positive feedback on their performance. It was a pleasure to have them with us for a short time and we very much hope they found it to be a valuable experience as they look to forge their careers in law"

Charlie Sorensen - Senior Associate.

"We have offered 8 placements for the 2016-17 academic year, so far 2 have completed their placement, with other placements continuing all through the summer months. So far, I have found all students very bright, enthusiastic and pleasant to have around. I am confident that the students will have experienced the reality of life in a law firm, will have gained some insight into the varied nature of litigation in a small island, and will hopefully have seen something of client meetings, court, mediation and the like. They will also have plenty of experience in the more mundane side of law, such as document organisation and filing."

"Providing an internship and mentoring an Institute of Law Student has been a positive and rewarding experience both for Bedell Cristin and for the Student."

Bedell Cristin provide valuable insight into the law in practice and offer work experience which can be difficult for a student to obtain in such a competitive market. The student from the Institute of Law already had a well-founded initial understanding of law which has added great value to the firm during her internship"

Rebecca McNulty - Senior Associate.

Students work placement scheme

The Institute of law is a Recognised Teaching Centre of the University of London and offers tuition on a variety of law courses in Jersey: diplomas, certificates, graduate & undergraduate degrees in law and CPD. Students also have the opportunity to study the LLB concurrently with a French law degree (licence de droit).

The work placement scheme was piloted in the 2016 - 2017 academic year by 5 Jersey law firms who agreed to provide valuable placements for our LLB students.

The scheme aims to provide as much of a 'real life' situation as possible. Students should be asked to produce:

- a CV
- A supporting letter of application

The potential employer will then be able to preselect from our pool of students for interviews and/or an aptitude test.

Students' availability

Our Jersey-based students are available all year round and our International students are available for the academic year, from October until April.

Flexibility to fit your needs

The scheme is flexible and can be adapted to suit your needs. It is up to the potential employer and the students to negotiate the length of the placement and the numbers of hours the students will work every week.

Our classes run after 17:00 weekdays or at the weekend; therefore our students can be available up to 20 hours a week when you need them.

Our scheme can also give you opportunities to fill your organisation administrative gaps for:

- lunch-time cover;
- holiday cover;
- sickness cover.

To pay or not to pay?

Work placements can be offered paid or unpaid (however, if it is substantial regular work, then the student should at least receive minimum wage).
